Dear Licensees:

It's time to kick off another football season here in the great State of Alabama. From one end of the state to the other, season tickets are being bought and tailgate parties are being planned. No matter what team you cheer for, we should all work together to promote responsibility when it comes to consumption of alcoholic beverages. As suppliers, brokers, retailers and ABC Board employees, we play an important part in the battle against the abuse of alcohol products. Unified, we share a common objective of eliminating alcohol abuse, underage consumption and drunk driving. A variety of voices increases the chances of the message being heard. If you need information on, or help with improving skills in, legal-age determination and refusing sales, please contact our Responsible Vendor Program.

The ABC Board plans to expand the Rum selection available through both our retail and wholesale stores. We have contacted multiple suppliers with the desire to expand our offerings. While we have not heard back from some suppliers, many have responded and are working with us to enhance this category. Some of the rums that we plan to carry in the future include offerings from:

Angostura, Atlantic, Brugal, Campesino, Diplomatico, Damoiseau, Don Maderas 5+5, El Dorado, Flor De Cana, Martinique, Ron Matusalem, Pampero, Plantation, Rhum Barbancourt, Ron del Barralito, Smith and Cross, the Real McCoy, Gander, ZAFRA, Rum Melocon, Probitas by Four Square, Foursquare 2007, 1 Barrel, Prichards, Pyrat, Ron Zacapa and Wray and Nephew.

We also plan to enter the Hard Selzer craze with offerings from High Noon and Monaco. These items are spirit-based products in attractive 355 mL cans and offer consumers an alternative from the malt-based items they currently enjoy.

I would like to thank all our customers, industry representatives and employees for their hard work. We will continue to find ways to enhance service, increase revenues and reevaluate the operation for effective ways to better serve the citizens of Alabama. The Board and I realize that you are indispensable to our success, and we hope that the combination of our services and products are meeting your needs. As always, customer service remains a top priority. Please feel free to contact my office any time you have a question or need assistance.

Sincerely,

H.M. Gipson

BRANDY, THE PIONEERING SPIRIT

BY THOMAS HENRY STRENK

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the November/December 2018 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

FOR YEARS NOW, AMERICAN BRANDY HAS BEEN DOMINATED by a few big brands at the value end and by French

(and French-inspired craft) brandies at the high end. Lately, however, a fresh breeze of innovation has roused the category. New directions come from experimentation by both established names and new players. An American style has emerged, with a nod to terroir. And these new directions offer much to discover.

“The next chapter in American brandy is now being written as we explore what American brandy can be,” says Chip Tate, president and head distiller of Tate & Co. Distillery in Waco, Texas. Tate himself has taken a new direction: the former founder of Balcones Distilling traded whiskey for brandy. At the recently established Tate & Co., he experiments with grapes indigenous to Texas.

“American brandy is definitely rising. But the new wave is actually quite old school in some ways—the original craft distillers in the 1980s were all brandy distillers,” says Joe Heron, co-owner of Copper & Kings American Brandy Co. in Louisville, Kentucky. When Heron founded the company in 2014, he introduced an adventurous new dynamic, with a proliferation of as many as four new product launches a year. These include everything from brandies aged in craft beer barrels, rye whiskey casks, and tequila barrels to Geogr&phy Bi-Continental Brandewijn, a blending of South African and American brandies.

“American brandy seems to be gaining vibrancy,” says Kim Roberts, director of marketing, spirits business unit for E. & J. Gallo Winery. “Many American brandy offerings are focusing on their fruit expression and smooth taste, which is appealing for newcomers to the category.” Gallo’s Argonaut label sources from the company’s extensive vineyards and uses both Coffey and alembic pot stills.

“All spirits have come in and out of favor with generations. I think the pendulum swung for a long period of time out of favor for American brandy, but it is coming back in full force, and it looks like it will be here to stay,” says Jeff Bell at Bertoux Brandy.

“The emergence of craft distilling has allowed many producers to focus on a host of products, and with each explosive growth, it’s natural that someone was going to focus on brandy,” says Scott Harris, founder and general manager of Catactin Creek Distillery. The Virginia-based producer’s 1757 Virginia Brandy, 8-year-old Bottled-in-Bond, is made from a blend of Seyval blanc and Chambourcin grapes grown within 10 miles of the distillery.

“The rise of cocktail culture has had a major influence on the category, as brandy cocktails have a long and rich history in America,” says Elizabeth Hurst, brand manager at Heaven Hill for Christian Brothers Brandy. The company produced Sacred Bond Bottled-In-Bond with bartenders’ needs in mind. It’s produced in copper pot stills with California grapes and aged four years in Heaven Hill Bourbon barrels.

“The farm-to-table movement has moved beyond food menus to beverages, including fruit-based brandies,” says Jeanine Racht, development and marketing manager for Clear Creek Distillery in Portland, Oregon. Owned by Hood River Distillers, Clear Creek specializes in brandies made from Northwestern products, notably pears, cherries, plums, raspberries, and even Douglas fir buds. “Before Prohibition, apple brandy and rum were the most produced and consumed spirits in the United States,” notes Racht. “We are just seeing history repeat itself.”

“Undoubtedly the interest in American whiskey has helped boost the American brandy and apple brandy category,” says Lisa Laird Dunn, vice president of Laird & Company. The Scobeyville, New Jersey-based company is America’s oldest family-owned licensed distiller and produces Laird’s Blended Applejack, Laird’s Apple Brandies, Laird’s Jersey Lightning, and Laird’s Straight Applejack 86, which revives the company’s pre-Prohibition style. The company also has re-released its Bottled-in-Bond

Straight Apple Brandy. “Applejack has been distilled here since the 1600s and was more commonly drunk than whiskey. Brandy is versatile,” she adds. It can be enjoyed neat in a snifter, on the rocks, or in a cocktail.

“Part of the work we have to do is not only explore brandy-making, but also make brandy more approachable and help people understand that on a basic level, brandy is as simple as it gets—you grow fruit, ferment it, and distill it,” says Tate.

“American brandy has all the makings of the next big category from the cocktail culture and the rich heritage to the offering of quality products,” says Hurst. “If consumers latch onto these ideals, then the category could see an American brandy renaissance.”

THE PLANTATION OF RUM

BY NOAH MCCULLOUGH

MASTER DISTILLER AND OWNER ALEXANDER GABRIEL OF MAISON FERRAND, one of the oldest spirit companies in all of Cognac, France spent most of his time in the 90's, combing through the Caribbean in search of the best rums of the regions. In 1998, all of his time amongst studies and travel came into production in the form of a rum company that is known now as a powerhouse of the rum world. The method behind this company is to make great rum based on the different types of terroir where the cane is grown. "Terroir", a term more commonly used in the wine world, defines the complete and natural environment of which a plant is grown and a rum is produced, including factors such as: soil type, topography, and climate. 15 years later, Alexander has been awarded the title "Master Blender" by the world's best rum awards and named distiller of the year by the American Institute.

There are 3 Rums produced by plantation that have become a standard for most bars in the United States and across the world.

PLANTATION 3 STAR WHITE

A4651- A rum blend based on three of the Caribbean's most predominate terroirs, Barbados, Trinidad, and Jamaica. All three of these rums are aged for a multitude of years, then charcoal filtered to strip the rum of its color leaving a crystal clear product that still has the character of most aged rums.

PLANTATION ORIGINAL DARK

A9159- This rum is a blend of 1-3 year Barbados rums and 10-15 year Jamaican pot still high-ester rums, then aged 3-6 months in the southwest of France.

PLANTATION STIGGINS FANCY PINEAPPLE

A9159- A rum that was created as a tribute to Charles Dickens' character "Reverend Stiggins" from Pickwick Papers, whose favorite drink was pineapple rum. The Rum is a blend of two rums: the Plantation 3 Star White, which is infused with victoria pineapple bark and then further distilled after infusion, and Plantation Original Dark, that is infused with pineapple juices.

Handbook for the Recently Deceased

Original recipe by Roy H. Clark bar manager of The Haberdasher, a cocktail bar on 113 Dauphin Street, Mobile Alabama
